THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L., SR.

A great many members of the Republican and Democratic parties speak of the Socialists with a vast distaste, as though they were some sort of strange animal, wearing feathers instead of fur, with cloven hooves and a tufted tail. Not so! No indeed! We are all socialists and rapidly becoming more socialist by the hour, only we stick to the old party names.

* * *

Whenever a municipality, under the laws passed by state lesislature, buys its own water supply and sets up business as a municipal service corportion, it takes, perhaps, the first step toward socialism. When a public utility district is formed, as in the case of the recently organized Utilities District of Donner Summit, it has become, to the extent, socialistic. There are several towns in California which own their own lighting and power systems, their own water supply and even their own garbage service. Roseville is a fair example of such a city. The mayor of Roseville is a candidate for the state senate. He is running on what is a thinly disguised socialistic platform. He believes in public ownership of utilities, because they have served Roseville remarkably well. Sacramento, not long since, became the owner of its electric and power service. San Francisco owns all but a small fraction of its public transit. It owns its own water supply and potentially its own light and power facilities.

* * *

So the story goes. The day of rugged individualism is almost over. The greatest advocate of socialism this country ever had was a Democrat, Franklin D. Roosevelt. He it was, who signed the bills that gave us all the taxes that provide funds for old age benefits, unemployment, and insurance benefits. Some of our rugged individualists are impecunious. They advocate the advantages of the horse and buggy, but ride in motor cars that DO NOT take them "over the hill to the poorhouse". They are tenderly cared for, while they curse the times in which they live.

* * *

These to be sure are so-called reforms, under which every citizen becomes financially responsible for the welfare of all citizens who do not spend their old age in jail for crimes against the social order. When a municipality moves in and takes over its utilities and services it is a long way down the road toward socialism. That city has determined to cut out the middle man, even though he often performs a better service, for less money, than the municipality performs.

* * *

The United States has not gone so far or so fast as has Great Britain in national socialism, but its laws regulating monopolies are certainly in the direction of national ownership of some of the national utilities such as railroads. France for a long time has owned its railroads. Britain has owned its railroads less than a year. But it has taken over the coal business for the British Isle. It thus far hasn't worked very well, but that is probably due to antiquated methods of coal mining, as well as to government inexperience in mining and marketing coal. Communications, including postal and telephone service, have long been government monopolies in England. Thus far we have only the postoffice to show as a socialistic enterprise in this country.

* * *

But we have established the Tennessee Valley light and power system, which is a socialistic government monopoly. We think it is costing too much but you probably could not convince one of its customers that it is, particularly when the rates are usually far below those of private corporations. However, if allowances were made for the taxes which the government does not pay, it would prove to cost more than it does in the TVA book accounts. And certainly with the present set-up it cannot be properly used as a measuring stick, unless it adds on the taxes private power companies pay. In any event it is a faltering step in federal socialism, and let us not forget it.

* * *

We would guess that other power developments will be the next step in federal ownership of water resources and their use. The Central Valleys may be the next one. And, in the not too distant future, we think the country's railroad systems may be taken over, or perhaps the coal mines will be first. A few more strikes tying up the national economy in hard knots may result in just that. We believe the people generally would prefer to leave these industries, the railroads and the coal mines, in private hands, but most of us are pretty tired of being cold in the winter time and losing money on our crops just when the market for farm produce is soaring.

TOO MUCH POWER

By Harley M. Leete; Jr.

CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY SUPERVISOR

The Board of Supervisors deserves hearty commendation for their stand in opposing the Forest Service's Co-Operative Sustained Yield Unit Plan, and denouncing specifically the Woodleaf Unit established under that program.

Sustained yield units sound wonderful—on paper. Their purpose is to conserve the forest. The mechanics are this. Lumbermen who own stands of timber adjacent to Forest Service land agree to adhere to the Forest Service cutting program.

In return for this, the Forest Service agrees to sell certain stands of timber to the lumber operators. These are also to be cut in accordance with official forest practice.

The net result, on paper, is good. Timber is cut only as fast as it grows, and the area in which this is this rule is in effect is increased. Our forests are conserved.

But the set-up doesn't work out in practice as neatly as it does on paper.

Because it infringes on the democratic principles of free enterprise, it vastly increases the power of a government agency. It encourages big operators, discourages small ones. Counties or business enterprises which enter into agreements with forest services officials are soon embarassed when the responsible official is transferred and replaced with another executive, equally intelligent, but equipped with an entirely new set of directives, instructions and interpretations from the brilliant but ever-changing minds in Washington.

Thus the municipalities place a portion of their welfare and future in the hands of a government agency which thinks not in terms of localities, of individual sawmill companies, but in terms of the vast nation.

The rise or fall of Nevada City or Grass Valley is too small a factor for the geniuses in Washington to seriously consider.

That is our own lookout—and we can best protect and retain control of our future by joining the Board of Supervisors and the Lumbermen's Protective Association in their stand against the Co-operative Sustained Yield Unit policy.

THE - Diary of a 49'er

FROM THE BOOK EDITED BY C. L. CANFIELD

MAY 9, 1852.—The creek claim panned out well for the week, the clean-up yesterday amounted to sixty-one ounces. Dunn and his partner have been at the cabin all afternoon bargaining to buy the claims outright and we agreed on terms. They are to give us three thousand dollars in cash and we turn the ground over to them. This suits both of us, as we will go away next month and do not want any interests left behind, as neither of us calculate on coming back. As we have already agreed to sell our interests in the river claims for six thousand and are to receive our money on June 1, we will have nine thousand dollars to divide between us, which is not very bad for a winter's work.

I had some nice letters from home and a copy of the Winstead Herald, in which there is an item that Mr. Alfred Jackson, of Norfolk, had made his fortune in the California mines and would soon return and settle down in his old home. I guess the editor is mistaken about my settling down. Norfolk is too small a village for me, although there was a time when I thought it was the greatest place on earth. I am beginning to believe with Pard that this is going to be a great state, and the chances are that it will be my home. First, however, I am going to see something of the world; we will go to Europe and roam around for six months or more. Pard says it will be an ideal honeymoon trip and one that will expand my ideas, broaden me out, and that I will get rid of some of my Puritan notions. It may be so, but I guess my bringing up has not been any great drawback. Come to think of it, he has got as many queer ideas as I have. He has asked me to give him Jack, which I am very glad to do. I like the old dog mighty well, but somehow he was fonder of Pard from the beginning, and besides, I could not very well take him to the States with me. Then he is going to take the

Sheriff's Posse Rides To Wheatland Parade

NEVADA CITY: The Nevada County Sherif's Posse in Wheatland Sunday rode in its first parade of this season. A special invitation was given the posse in remembrance of the Wheatland bank robbery of last year, when all three bandits were either captured or killed.

At a special meeting members of the posse decided they would ride in all parades of surrounding communities when invited.

BUILD NEVADA COUNTY

Action On Hiway 49

NEVADA CITY: Seventy-two persons gathered last Friday night at the Deer Creek Inn under the auspices of the Sierra Nevada Chamber of Commerce to hear Charles H. Purcell, state Director of Public Works, respond to the question of how soon the Downieville Highway (49) can be completed.

The Federal Public Roads Administration has completed most of the road improvement between the Middle Yuba River and the North Fork of the Yuba, but there remains a piece about 3½ miles in the jurisdiction of the State, including Depot Hill, which the people of Sierra and Nevada Counties are anxious to see improved, especially since the road is now used continually by heavy trucks and trailers bringing lumber from the Calida mills at Brandy City.

Purcell, after giving an account of the great activity of the State Highway Commission, and stating that the board was using funds nearly as fast as they came in, concluded his address by directing Charles Whitmore, district engineer at Marysville, to survey the road and present his report in time for the October meeting of the board.

Attending the meeting were Dr. June Harris of Scramento and Sierra County, Steve Paxton, District Manager of the State Chamber of Commerce, Senator Allen G. Thurman, James Flannegan, Plumas County Board of Supervisors, Stanley Bailey, editor of the Portola Reporter, Attorney Bud James of Portola, Elton Carvin, Attilio Lombardi, and Antone Lavezzola, of the Sierra County Board of Supervisors, Sheriff Dewey Johnson of Sierra County, and Warren Odell, chairman of the Nevada County Board of Supervisors.

Purcell's talk was encouraging, and the meeting was deemed a great success.

George Hansen, chairman of the Sierra Nevada Chamber of Commerce, confidently predicts that the state will begin work on the Downieville Highway in the Spring of 1949.

Hansen will announce the personnel to make up the delegation at a later date.

The next meting of the Sierra Nevada Chamber will be held Friday night, May 14.

BOARD RAPS FOREST UNIT 'MONOPOLY'

NEVADA CITY: The Nevada County Board of Supervisors, before adjourning Wednesday night, passed a resolution opposing the Woodleaf Sustained Yield Unit and any similar action on the part of the U. S. Forest Service.

The resolution was passed after hearing both sides of the controversy respecting the Woodleaf proposal. The resolution was directed to the Chief of the United States Forest Service and the Agricultural Department in Washington.

The resolution finds that the contract is partial and discriminatory in favor of the grantees, the Soper Wheeler Company, and/or the Sacramento Box and Lumber Company, and is monopolistic in its tendencies, tying up in the Plumas National Forest, 89,676 acres, which would affect the well being of many communities now depending on lumbering operations and many small saw mills in the area.

OAKLAND, GOLD FLAT, TEACHERS QUIT JOBS

NEVADA CITY: R. R. Lewis, temporary chairman and representing a majority of the parents of the Oakland (Gold Flat) School District, who lodged a protest in the office of Superintendent of Schools Walter A. Carlson on Saturday, concerning the resignation of three teachers in that school, yesterday issued a statement concerning the trouble.

The teachers who resigned, their resignations to take effect at the end of the school year in June, are Miss Laila O'Dea, principal, Mrs. Olive Kallenberger, and Miss Sylvia Ronning.

Lewis said that the trouble was caused solely by the orders of the board of trustees. He stated the parents, or the great majority of them, are attempting to persuade the teachers to withdraw their resignations.

"Contrary to the usual method which permits the school principal to purchase supplies, the trustees forbade her to spend any money. The result has been she has been obliged to purchase from her private funds, soap, first aid supplies and other materials for the pupils welfare.

"The trustees have been notified of unsanitary and inadequate drinking fountain conditions and unsanitary ad unhealthful lavatory conditions. There has been no running water in the boys' lavatory for over a year. The school bell is without a rope, so that in event of fire, a messenger must be sent into the rooms to notify the children and teachers.

Lewis recited a number of other conditions imposed by the trustees and declared that he would seek their recall in event they refused to resign.

The school board will meet Friday evening in the school and have invited Carlson, the parents of the district, teachers and anyone else interested, to be present at 8 o'clock.

MAYOR BATES APPOINTS NEW COMMITTEES

NEVADA CITY: Mayor Albert S. Bates has appointed committees of the Nevada City Council to care for the municipal departments.

H. F. Sofge will be in charge of streets; Arthur B. Innis, police and service; Merle M. Headley, water and sewers; and Thomas H. Taylor, parks and finance.

The council agreed it will advertise for a suitable life guard to take care of the municipal pool in the summer months. A survey of the junction of Pine and Broad Streets, which it is proposed to lower, was ordered.

MEETING AT FRENCH CORRAL TOLD WATER SUPPLY PLENTIFUL

FRENCH CORRAL: The regular monthly meeting of the San Juan Ridge Water Association, was well attended by some thirty members, on May 2nd, 1948, at the French Corral Hall.

Reports from the various Committees and Water Supervisor, were very gratifying, especially regarding the water outlook for this season, which shows more than an average supply available, which assures the users they will be able to have their wonderful vegetables at their best.

Immediately after this meeting, they drove to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aleck Stewart, who were surely surprised, and a very pleasant two hour time was spent with them and their daughter Lonnie.

The ladies had brought their eats with them, and all enjoyed the same with the wonderful coffee and the nice thick cream supplied by the hostess.

It is with deep regret that we have to state that this was a farewell party for our good neighbors, who have sold their home to Los Angeles people, and will be leaving for an extended tour of distant parts. They say they will be back on the San Juan Ridge to settle again, as they like the nice climate and the people who live here.

Candidate Tells Plan For Youth Centers

TRUCKEE: B. W. Reynolds, candidate for the state assembly from the sixth district, this week said he favors a system of state-subsidized summer camps or centers through the Sierra region for the youth of California.

"Summer camp activity offers a great deterrent to juvenile delinquency," Reynolds believes. "This has been proven by the splendid results from Boy and Girl Scout camps and activities.

"A series of such centers in our mountain area, properly supervised, could serve as one step in a program to curb the rising flood of juvenile crime in California. Supervisors could be found in the ranks of teachers between semesters or in the ranks of specialized professionals. Here young people could be taught to work together and to appreciate the finer things that somehow seem to find their expression in our great mountains."

GIVE TO SALVATION ARMY

By Henry Hotvedt

The Salvation Army, with Headquarters for Nevada County in Grass Valley, is now conducting its annual financial campaign.

In these trying times we need your financial support more than ever in order to carry out our social service program to the communities of Grass Valley, Nevada City and the County. You know the kind of work we have been doing in the past, we would like to do even better in the future. We can do that only if you get behind us in a practical way.

We are carrying a heavy program here at home, supplying food and shelter to those who pass through; food and clothing to the needy in our local community. We have been able to secure work for women and men also. You can't go wrong by asking the Army to help you at any time of the day, nor can you go wrong by supporting this splendid work that treats all alike.

This is a local drive for funds to be spent locally. Just the kind of thing you like to see. Therefore we ask you to give that we may do. We also have Girls and Boys Homes, Old folks Homes, Hospitals. Besides all this, we are doing a big work in any land where the Allied armies are at work and where your boys are serving. We must help to keep them busy and interested in clean sports. Will you help us to make life more pleasant for them? You can do that by donating to your local Salvation Army in Grass Valley.

During the month of May there will be ladies and men calling on you for donations. These collectors will have our official collecting lists or receipt book.

Should no one happen to call on you, please mail or bring your check or cash donation to The Salvation Army, 134 So. Auburn St., Grass Valley. What ever you do, don't let the month of May slip away without us receiving your donation.

Ask anybody who has been in the forces what the Army did for them. Help us to keep it up. Now is the hour—this is the month—give your donation in May. For any further information you may like to have regarding our work, drop in and see us some day, we shall be glad to have you call and talk it over.

Just Wonderin'

I Wonder when the month of May
Comes with her gift of precious days
And calls to us in tender wise
To walk life's quiet ways;
How eagerly our heart respond
How dear the home ties seem
And how we follow memory's paths
In many a golden dream.

May is a magic month and strange it would be if we did not respond to her manifold charms. This year, she came to our California with tender blue skies and perfumed breezes, with the mystery of growing things and the loveliness of blossoming tree and vine. We caught the fragrance of blossom laden fruit trees and then one morning, we found the gold of Ophir roses had come, as they have never failed to come, "into the heart of the new singing year." Beauty was about us everywhere, and as we watched the processes of recreation, we knew that the world was not going to the dogs and that civilization could never be destroyed by atomic power—a way would be found, doubt and fear would not always prevail, sometime the good ship, Hope of the World, would make port and this weary old earth would find its blossom time.

May brought us Mother's Day, Father's Day and Family Week and under the influence of awakened emotion and beneficient memories, family ties were strengthened and home was seen in its true relation to our way of life. We realized that home was indeed the unit of our civilization and that as such it must be kept securely guarded from corroding influences and that it was of all places the symbol of our strength as a nation.

A closer relationship between parents and children, a mutual sympathy and understanding among all members of the family, would inevitably result in better contacts with the world at large, juvenile delinquency would cease to trouble and broken homes become far less numerous.

We may feel great pride in a large imposing home, but from the little homes of America, we have received our greatest inspirations, and it is to these little homes that we owe our greatest allegiance. Truly there is no place like home, so let's cultivate and improve our homes and our home relationships. Parents and children have many interests in common; and these interests should bind the members of the family together in unbreakable bonds of love and understanding.

"Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home." Let us cherish the little homes and look to them for jackass below with him; says he will turn him out on a ranch where he can get a good living without work. He explained that he could not bear to think of somebody packing him with heavy loads over the rough rails and beating him to death. So he is with all of God's creatures, a tender heart for everything that lives.

For the past month everything has seemed as unreal to me as a dream, and the thought comes once in a while that I may wake up and find such to be the case. It is not quite three years since I left home and the people wondered at my courage in venturing into an unknown country at the ends of the earth. Now it seems as if it was the center of the universe instead of the hub, and I have a sort of pity for those who are ignorant of its attractions. I have become a reader and a student. Books, which at one time were a weariness, delight me. I came away engaged to be married to a good girl. Now, although she is the same Hetty, I am not the same man, and I know that we are not suited to each other. I was poor, now I am comparatively rich, and I have ambitions and aspirations to push on in the world and carve out a career, where three years ago I would have been content to take the Slocum farm and vegetate on it the rest of my life. I have faith that Marie will not only make me a good wife but also the companion I need as a stimulus to my ambitions. And then Pard, who has been such a comfort and aid to me, made me solemnly promise that when I get through with my wanderings I will come back to San Francisco and settle down there where we can still have each other's friendship. He quotes Emerson, "When you are sure of your friend, hold to him with hooks of steel." Well, it is a great change in three years and who who knows what the next three years will bring?

Hoskins Named Honorary Fireman

GRASS VALLEY. Sheriff Richard W. Hoskins, for 25 years a member of the Grass Valley Fire Department, was transferred to the honorary list of members at the last regular meeting of the Eagle Company.

This means that he will not be expected to answer fire calls on a 24 hour basis, though as the county's chief peace officer, he will probably be present in event of any large conflagration.

Forest Ranger Is Promoted, Transferred

NEVADA CITY: Guerdon Ellis, supervisor of Tahoe National Forest, reports that Alvin F. Wright, who has been assistant ranger in the Downieville district, has been promoted and transferred to the Cleveland National Forest at San Diego, where he will be training officer in fire prevention and suppression.

Wright's successor has not yet been named, but, according to Ellis, will be assigned shortly.

the leadership which will safeguard the nation.

Only a gate, but it often spoke to those who passed on the shaded street, telling a story of thrift and pride—this little gateway so trim and neat. A pathway led to the open door—a pathway bordered by radiant flowers,
And many paused in the silence there, forgetting the stress of insistent hours. Only a house amid verdant trees, with nothing imposing to awe or command, but it sheltered gentle home loving heart and filled its place in a far flung land.
Simple homes may be gracious homes, filled with the purest joys of earth, Fashioned and molded to our desires, who can determine their ultimate worth?
From some humble home, unknown to fame, through the little door and the open gate
One may come at the call of life, with a gift to the world for which men wait.
Precious indeed are the little homes, cherish and guard them with loving care;
Dream of them ever through hours of toil, whisper
"home" in your evening prayer.

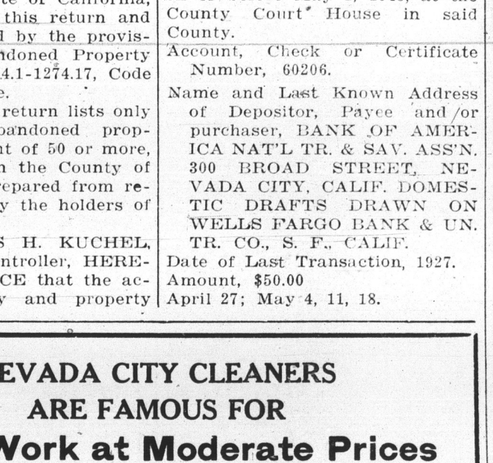
"WORLD'S LONGEST SPEAKING TUBE"
now pipes calls East



1. Imagine packing 500 voices together in a tube no bigger than a pencil and sorting them out distinctly at the end! That's what we're doing with coaxial cable. Radio-type waves whisk calls through pipes...instead of on wires...allowing one "co-ax" to to do the work of a number of the more usual kinds of long distance cable.

2. We plant "co-ax" with giant plows that lay the cable in one operation. Every eight miles a "booster station" keeps calls going through clearly. For—incredible as it seems—high frequency waves fade so rapidly in the cable that all the sun's energy, if it could be funneled into the pipes, would not carry half-way across the country.

3. "End of the line"... it takes huge panels of complex equipment like this to sort out the calls carried by just one cable. Since December, calls have been going back and forth from the Coast to the East over 2300 miles of "co-ax." And we're adding still more cables to augment long distance service for the growing telephone population on the Coast.

Millions of new working dollars, needed to extend and improve service, must come—not from telephone bills—but from thousands of people who put their savings to work in the telephone business. To attract these working dollars, we must pay a reasonable amount for their use. We can do this only if we sell our services at fair and adequate prices.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Jeb Had the Folks in Stitches!

At the Friday Night Social, Jeb Crowell had the audience in stitches—doing a take-off on the blustering character who belittles everybody and everything that isn't from his own home town.

Well, we can laugh at that sort of character because from where I sit, Americans are just the opposite. We like to boast a bit perhaps, about the paint job on the new barn, or the missus' style of cooking—but we aren't intolerant of people who don't think or act exactly the same way we do.

In our town, for instance: Some folks like band concerts, others don't—some families serve beer with dinner, others, buttermilk—and as for politics, there's plenty of healthy disagreement.

But when it comes to denying folks the right to think or act as they choose . . . no, we're like you—we don't believe in it, whether it goes for serving beer, or speaking one's mind on public affairs.

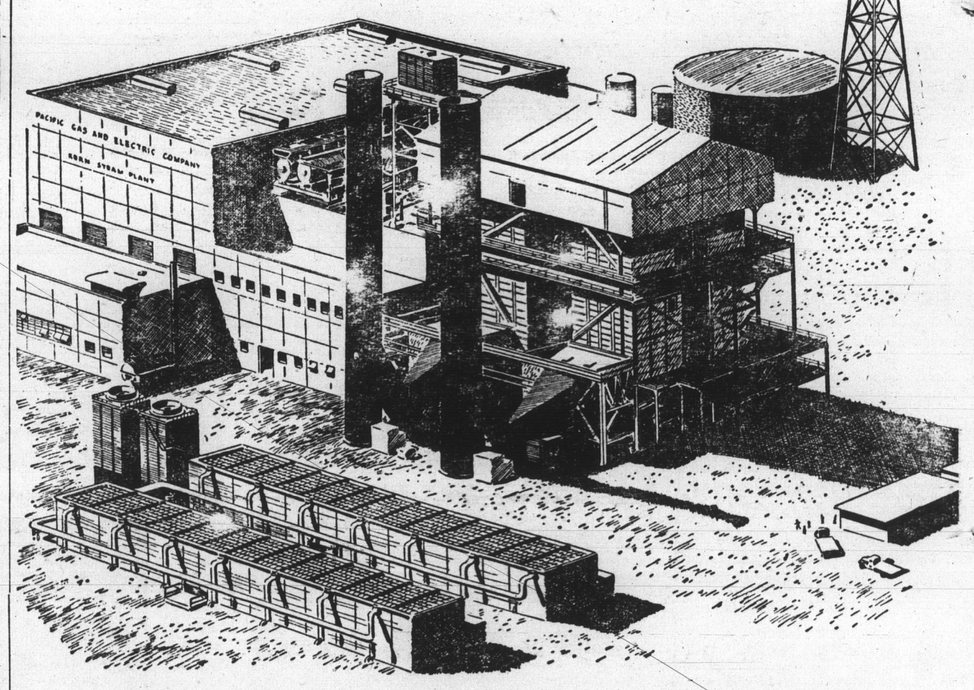
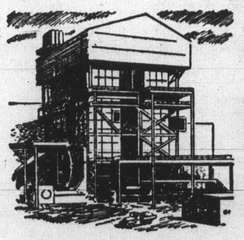
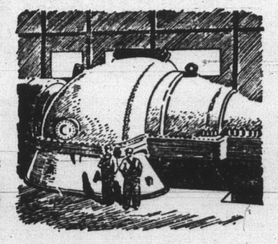
New Kern plant adds 101,000 horsepower to P.G. and E. lines



Last week, the first giant generator of P. G. and E's new Kern Steam Plant near Bakersfield, began turning out 101,000 electrical horsepower for Northern and Central California. Another and still larger generator will be completed later. This is the 70th major power plant in P. G. and E's system... already one of the nation's largest . . . and the first major unit in a $400,000,000 postwar program to add nearly two million horsepower in generating capacity. Other plants are on the way, some nearing completion. Construction is going full speed ahead all along the line.



Four towering boilers, a full eight stories high, produce superheated steam that makes generators whirl. 40 freight cars of material went into each boiler. They burn either gas or oil to make steam at 935°F. — four times as hot as that from your teakettle. It's sent to the turbines under tremendous pressure.



A mighty package of power... this generator is the heart of Kern. It was ordered originally in 1941, re-ordered after V-J Day and received only this year. Beneath its hood, the precision-made generating unit turns at 1800 revolutions per minute, pouring out new electrical energy for homes, farms and factories.

for the record

The first Kern unit produces enough power to serve Berkeley and San Jose

Tons of parts were brought in by plane to speed construction steam output of the 4 Kern boilers would run 21 giant freight locomotives at full speed

Work never stops on our power-building program
